DOMINIK SENN HAS DEVELOPED PANTHER NATIONAL IN PALM BEACH GARDENS.

SPOTLIGHT

HOLE IN ONE

Who better to develop the first modern golf and lifestyle community to debut in Palm Beach County in nearly two decades than Dominik Senn, once a champion alpine skier and sports agent for the likes of Roger Federer? Between the pandemic-booster shift of affluent homeowners acquiring primary residences in South Florida and the area's status as a golf haven, Senn says Panther National will further the evolution of Palm Beach Gardens.

"There are only a few locations in the world with climate and vegetation like Palm Beach Gardens—where you can build a community like this one that backs up to the Panther National Wildlife Refuge in Florida's Big Cypress Basin," he explains.

In conceiving Panther National, even more important than exclusivity and security (essential in a community built to draw professional athletes) was the issue of sustainability. "Coming from the mountains of Zug, Switzerland, I saw firsthand the effects of global warming, so we are doing our best to leverage sustainable architecture," Senn shares. He adds that Panther National is employing the Best Management Practices (BMP) for Florida golf courses, down to small touchpoints like sustainably packaged goods for members.

The task of recruiting like-minded A-listers, including MLB and NHL players, as members and owners is no hard sell: beyond the Jack Nicklaus Signature 18-hole golf course designed with PGA Tour star Justin Thomas (and its affiliated lounge), Panther National sports 218 estates by renowned architect Max Strang, world-class golf training facilities, a clubhouse, and a lifestyle center with a spa, saunas, fitness and yoga studios, a tennis complex, and a resort-style pool. What's better than a staycation at the Yacht Club, the all-suite, adults-only luxury hotel within The Boca Raton? A chance to drive the Aston Martin DBX 707 while you're there. The hotel recently partnered with the British car brand to offer the Aston Martin Driving Experience, a complimentary perk available exclusively to guests of the Yacht Club. Pick a morning or afternoon to cruise scenic A1A to Miami or Palm Beach—or put its claim of zero to 60 in 3.1 seconds to the test. Other privileges reserved for Yacht Club guests and private club members? Access to the pool and facilities at Spa Palmera, fine dining at Flybridge, and dedicated butler service to any of the waterfront hotel's 112 suites, each of which has a private balcony overlooking the yachts docked in Lake Boca Raton. Prepare for Liftoff

Commuting isn't just for business travel anymore. Cue HeliFlite, the private commuter helicopter service that can zip you from Palm Beach International Airport to polo, Miami, or even Key West faster than it might take you to fill up on gas. Afternoon at Disney? Beach day in Longboat Key or the Bahamas? You can fly in one of the company's 15 twin-engine, dual-piloted, executive cabin-class helicopters to anywhere within a 250-mile radius of its bases in Miami, Opa-Locka, and Palm Beach. The fact that HeliFlite was regularly featured on HBO's Succession—and counts C-suite executives and celebrities we're not at liberty to name as frequent flyers—speaks to its luxury, safety, and discretion. Fees begin at $5,450 per hour but vary depending on route. (heliflite.com)

Seas the Day

Take to the high seas (or just the Intracoastal) with GetMyBoat, a boat rental service with no sign-up fees, membership, or subscription required. You don't need to own a boat to snorkel, enjoy a sunset cocktail hour, or show friends and family Palm Beach from the water; choose to charter a large captained yacht or, if you have boating experience, book a captain-optional or bare-boat rental, such as a pontoon or smaller powerboat, and motor around yourself. Want to make it a party? Yachts with capacity for more than 300 people are available from $1,375 per hour—or keep it in the family with a sloop for six. (getmyboat.com)
